

Call for applications for doctoral studentships at BEEGS, Södertörn University

A total of 15 doctoral studentships are available this year in the Baltic and East European Graduate School (BEEGS).

Södertörn University invites applications within five disciplines:

Business Administration, Ethnology, History, Political Science and Sociology. These disciplines belong to two research areas: Historical Studies, and Politics, Economy and the Organisation of Society.

Details on how to apply for doctoral studentships can be found on the University website. See www.sh.se/ledigajobb (for a Swedish-language version) or Vacant positions at www.sh.se, see "In English/Vacant positions" (for an English version). More information can also be found at www.sh.se/beegs.

Note that the application must reach Södertörn University by 1 March 2011 at the latest.

Contact at BEEGS: Ann-Cathrine Jungar, Director of Studies, email: beegs@sh.se.